All Saints
Sunday

My Dear Brothers and Sisters in Christ!

Grace and peace to you in the name of our Lord, Jesus Christ. On this All Saints' Sunday, I commend to you the view that we are all, "Called to be Saints". Here, reference is made to St. Paul's use of the word 'Saints' to describe the members of the community of faith at Corinth and other places. (1 Cor. 1:2; Rom. 1:7; Phil. 1:1). It is hoped that as we consider the challenge which such a call provides, we would be inspired by the examples of those who have journeyed in faith before us.

"...called to be saints, together with all those who in every place call on the name of our Lord Jesus Christ," (1 Cor. 1:2a)

We are all called to be saints in every place. Corinth was a centre of government and commerce in Greece, just as Athens was the centre of education. Located on the principal sea route between Rome and the East, it was a major trade center. A cosmopolitan port, its lax morals were proverbial, Yet, Paul called the Christians who were in that city, "saints". Simply put, they were believers in Christ who were growing in holiness and on their journey to maturity in Christ. They were not perfect individuals, neither was their congregation a perfect one. In fact, as one would discern from reading the letters, that Paul found them 'a mixed bag'.

It is in this context, that congregations of today are called to recognised their call to sainthood. Each member of the congregation is perhaps at a different stage of spiritual development; nevertheless, the goal for each is the same, maturity in Christ. May we inspire each other, in our growth in holiness.

*Yours sincerely,
Dean Jeffrey*

All Saints' Sunday

First Reading: Daniel 7:1-3, 15-18

Comment: "The holy ones of the Most High"

During Israel's exile in Babylon, Daniel has a troubling dream full of visionary symbols. He asks one of God's messengers to interpret the meaning of the four great beasts arising from the churning sea and is told that these are four of the kings of the earth. Whatever distress may come, the holy ones of the Most High will prevail and possess the eternal realm.

Psalm 149

A joyful song in which the faithful praise the Lord and anticipate the victory of justice.

Second Lesson: (The Epistle) Ephesians 1:11-23

Comment: “God made Christ head over all”

God has marked those who follow Christ for the divine purpose and has sealed them with the promised Holy Spirit.

The church is the body of Christ and so experiences the fullness of its Lord. The apostle prays that the Christians at Ephesus may see with their inward eye the power of God who has raised and enthroned Jesus far above all earthly and heavenly dominions. How vast is the treasure that God offers to those who trust in God!

The Holy Gospel: Luke 6:20-31

Comment: “Jesus speaks blessings and woes”

In our Gospel passage Jesus pronounces blessings and woes, words of comfort and challenge, showing that the values of the reign of God are quite different from worldly standards. Those who now are poor, hungry, sorrowful, and persecuted will find their situation reversed, while the rich, satisfied, and well-spoken-of will experience emptiness. Jesus’ disciples must learn to share in material and spiritual deprivation, and to do unto others as they would have it done to them, if they are to know the joy of the kingdom.
