WELCOME AND MAY GOD BLESS US ALL!

The Thirteenth Sunday After Pentecost

First Reading: Jeremiah 15:15-21
Comment: "God fortifies the prophet."
In this reading, Jeremiah complains to the Lord about the pain and difficulties of his mission. He then receives God's answer. The prophet has been called to preach a message of dark judgement to a people who are soon to be sent into exile. Despite persecution, the Lord's words were at first a joy to Jeremiah, but God has become like a treacherous brook—a stream that dried up when its waters were needed. Then the Lord tells Jeremiah that it is he who needs to turn again to God. The Lord will be with him, and he will be a wall of bronze against the people.

Psalm 26:1-8
A plea for justice by one who serves the Lord well.

Second Reading (The Epistle): Romans 12:9-21
Comment: "Live in harmony"
In this lesson, Paul exhorts the disciples in Rome to live lives full of Christian dedication and virtue, overcoming evil with good. One hears strong echoes of Jesus' beatitudes. Also present is Paul's own emphasis on the central role of love, together with the importance of a readiness to share in both the joy and sorrow of others. Blended with these teachings are some of the best of both Jewish and pagan ethical counsel. The apostle concludes with the insistence that revenge cannot be a motivation of Christians; final justice must be left to divine retribution.

THE HOLY GOSPEL: Matthew 16:21-28
Comment: "The rebuke of Peter"
In the gospel reading, Jesus teaches Peter and the other disciples that the way of his ministry and theirs is the way of the cross. Peter had just confessed Jesus to be the Christ, but now he cannot accept the idea of the Christ being put to death. Jesus calls Peter "Satan" because his words represent a temptation to him. Jesus' way costs no less than everything and leads to the discovery of that which is priceless. In the end the Son of Man will come as judge to repay all people for what they have done.
